

Frequently Asked Questions for 2014 AIDA Team World Championships (#1)

Teams

Who can enter a team for the 2014 Team WC?

Any independent country may enter a men's and/or women's team (or a single mixed team); territories, states and other dependent areas may not enter a team in the competition.

How many teams can a country enter?

Each country may enter one men's team and/or one women's team.

Can a country enter a mixed team (i.e. men and women combined)?

A country that does NOT enter a men's OR women's team may enter a mixed team (of men and women), which competes in the men's category. If a country enters either a men's or women's team, it may NOT enter a mixed team.

How many persons may a team contain?

--A team (men's, women's or mixed) may consist of two or three athletes; the scores of up to three athletes may be counted towards the team's total score.
--A fourth athlete is permitted to attend, but may only replace an athlete who is required to withdraw from the competition for medical reasons (as validated by the competition doctor).
--As of now, under AIDA's Competition Rules, an individual is NOT permitted to enter as a team; if that changes, we will notify you.
